Child abuse

“Child abuse” or “maltreatment” constitutes ‘all forms of physical and/or emotional ill-treatment, sexual abuse, neglect or negligent treatment or commercial or other exploitation, resulting in actual or potential harm to the child’s health, survival, development or dignity in the context of a relationship of responsibility, trust or power. “Cruelty to children” or “child abuse” as ‘behavior that causes significant harm to a child. It also includes when someone knowingly fails to prevent serious harm to a child. All forms of cruelty are damaging – it can be harder to recover from the emotional impact than from the physical effects.

Four types of cruelty are defined as:

- Physical abuse: including hurting or injuring a child, inflicting pain, poisoning, drowning, or smothering.
 - Sexual abuse: including direct or indirect sexual exploitation or corruption of children by involving them (or threatening to involve them) in inappropriate sexual activities.
 - Emotional abuse: repeatedly rejecting children, humiliating them or denying their worth and rights as human beings.
 - Neglect: the persistent lack of appropriate care of children, including love, stimulation, safety, nourishment, warmth, education, and medical attention.
- ✓ A child who is being abused may experience more than one type of cruelty.
 - ✓ Discrimination, harassment, are also abusive and can harm a child, both physically and emotionally.
 - ✓ Children’s participation – a space and a voice: We create a space to children to speak out about abuse.
 - ✓ Safe and supportive environment is maintained under supervision of the concerned staff. Movement register is well maintained.
 - ✓ Children should be treated with love and respect by staff and vice versa.
 - ✓ All children are supervised by adults at all times, whilst allowing for the free movement of children and adults within the setting.
 - ✓ Whenever children are on the premises at least two adults are present
